ABSTRACT

A method for presenting multimedia information related to a calling party to a user of a called party's terminal MS-B and for presenting multimedia information related to a called party to a user of a calling party's terminal MS-A. Information enabling presenting of multimedia information is sent from the calling party's terminal MS-A to the called party's terminal MS-B, respectively from the called party's terminal MS-B to the calling party's terminal MS-A. An identification of the called subscriber respectively the calling subscriber is used to relate the multimedia information the subscriber.